Family Faith Formation

"This is my body given for you."

(Luke 22:19)...Awesome God. People reaching for God and God reaching for people. We can't get there on our own.

In the Gospel this week we hear...

"Two people went up to the temple area to pray; one was a Pharisee and the other was a tax collector. The Pharisee took up his position and spoke this prayer to himself,

'O God, I thank you that I am not like the rest of humanity --greedy, dishonest, adulterous -- or even like this tax collector.

I fast twice a week, and I pay tithes on my whole income.' But the tax collector stood off at a distance and would not even raise his eyes to heaven but beat his breast and prayed,

'O God, be merciful to me a sinner.'

What is wrong with "I fast twice a week, and I pay tithes on my whole income."

Why does Jesus say, "I tell you, the latter went home justified, not the former;"

Justice Challenge
30th Week in Ordinary Time

Sunday's Responsorial Psalm proclaims that "The Lord hears the cry of the poor." The question is: Do WE hear the cry of those in need—in our families, in our communities, in our country, and even in the world? Or are we too focused on our own issues and worries that we tune out the cries of those around us? Your challenge this week is to listen. Be open to hearing the cries of those who suffer from injustice, hatred, hunger, poverty, loneliness, or whatever might be keeping them from living in hope and joy. Listen to people's stories; listen to the news; just listen. Then choose one voice you have heard and decide how you can reach out and help the person whose cry spoke to your heart. It might be just listening further, or it might be donating time or money. The important thing is that you respond to the cry you have heard.

OR

Today we celebrate World Mission Sunday, and on October 24 we celebrate the feast of Saint Anthony of Claret, a Spanish missionary and founder of the religious institute of missionaries known today as the Claretians. When he was appointed as head of the Archdiocese of Santiago in Cuba, Anthony began to work against concubinage. He also had the courage to teach the black slaves. When a hired assassin attempted to kill him for this, Anthony forgave him, even getting the man's death sentence commuted to a prison term. Anthony advocated for family-owned farms for the poor of Cuba, believing that if they produced a variety of foods they could feed their families and sell the rest on the market to become self-sufficient. Your challenge this week is to be missionaries—sent by God to bring the Good News to someone in need of hearing it. But, like Anthony and the missionaries of today, you need to address the physical needs of those who need you as well as their spiritual needs. Think of one thing you can do to accomplish both (e.g., serving at a homeless shelter, then sitting down to eat with a guest at the shelter and sharing something you love about your faith or about God).

First Corinthians 6:19-20 says "Do you not know that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit who is in you, whom you have from God, and you are not your own? For you were bought at a price; therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's."

From the homilies recently...

Fr. Steve

Referenced the movie Schindler's list.

"I wish I could have saved more people."

We need to persevere if it is convenient or inconvenient.

In the story of the widow. She persisted over and over again. The judge finally gave in out of fear. She did not give up.

We have a choice in life....

Be people of hope or fear...

Keep going in good times or bad times...

Moses' staff...a sign/symbol that God would win out... that God will always be with us.

Timothy tells us to stay close to the Word of God...to trust the Word of God in our lives.

The challenges/injustices in our lives....

Name them.

Face them.

Overcome them.

Fr. Jay

Through today's parable Jesus is telling us how to pray always and not lose heart.

Are we to pray over and over again? Nag God? God will answer us in God's good time. So what do we do with all of this? Our prayer with God should be like a conversation between a parent and a child. God is our parent we are the children. Children often think they know best. Sometimes parents have to say no, wait, later.

We need to talk to God throughout the day in conversation. Let God know what's on our mind. Then be silent and listen. God doesn't speak to us clearly sometimes. Sometimes we have to look back and see how God has been working in our lives. It is a constant dialogue with God. God knows what's best for us like our parents do.

God's going to work this out. We don't understand it now necessarily. We'll only understand it when we see God face-to-face and ask what was going on? And God will tell us, here's what happened.

Children often break away from their parents fight for their independence and sometimes we do that with God, but hopefully we come back and reestablish a dialogue, a conversation, speaking, listening and silence.

Let us take a few moments now. Talk to God in our own words and take some time to be silent and listen to God at least as a sign that in the future we are open to hear God whenever God chooses to speak.

All Saints Women's Group Meeting

Monday, October 24 beginning at 6:00pm in the Fr. Niehouse Rm. Join Us!!

Creation Care Tip: We can offer some help to our bird friends in the Fall. Birds sustain themselves by seeds and caterpillars. Leave your seed bearing flowers; coneflowers, daisies, Blackeyed-Susans, etc. so the birds can have the seeds. Even more important, leave the leaves unraked in part of your yard. Leaf litter is the winter home for many bugs, moths, and butterflies and their caterpillars will become food next Spring for all the birds and their nestlings.

Next All Saints Creation Care meeting is Wed., Nov. 2 at 6:30 pm in the Niehaus Rm (basement of school building).

The Book of the Gospels is a bound liturgical book containing all the Gospel Readings used during Sunday Mass and Solemnities for years A, B, and C. Because it's a liturgical book, it is considered sacred. Thus it is sometimes beautifully bound and decorated and always to be treated with reverence. The Book of the Gospels is ordinarily carried in procession by the deacon. However, in the absence of a deacon, the lector or reader assigned for the day may carry up this book and place it on the altar. The Book of the Gospels is put on the altar so that when the deacon or priest carries it to the ambo during the proclamation of the Gospel at Mass, there is a connection between the "table of the Word" at the Ambo and the "table of the altar." We are fed by both.

What We Believe...

The Angelic Presence During Mass

Perhaps you've seen the short film on the internet titled: The Veil Removed. It's a video that reveals the coming together of heaven and earth at Mass, as seen by saints and mystics, revealed by scripture and in the Catechism of the Catholic Church. In case you are unfamiliar with this film, it begins in a typical large city and focuses on a particularly large Catholic Church. A young man of twenty-something seems to have wandered into the church from the street just as Mass has begun. We don't know anything about this young man; however, we have the impression that he's searching for something and has decided to come to church. The inside of the church is speckled with a few faithful, most of whom look as if they are in their sixties or seventies. There are not many participants in the big church. After the gospel has been read, we notice some light being reflected by the tiled floor. As a family is bringing up the gifts to the altar, suddenly we notice that a pair of angels are accompanying them. These angelic beings proceed to process themselves into the sanctuary and take their place. Meanwhile, at least a dozen other such angels are marching down the main aisle of the church and also enter the sanctuary to the wonder and amazement of the congregation. By the time of the consecration and elevation of the chalice, we see the cross with a still alive Christ hanging upon it and suspended over the altar surrounded by a myriad of angels and saints. The special effects used in this video and the quality of the cinematography are quite excellent. St. Augustine once said, "The angels surround and help the priest when he is celebrating Mass." Unfortunately, to our modern "sensibilities," such ideas might strike us as being overly pietistic at best and like superstitious nonsense at worst. It's too incredible, isn't it? Can we really believe that all the angels and saints are present there with us as we worship our Lord in the Holy Mass remaining unseen, and yet know they stand beside us uniting Heaven and Earth? And yet, this is what has been believed down through the centuries. If one pays close attention, the Preface of the Eucharistic Prayer attests to the presence of many angels. For example, "And so, with Angels and Archangels, with Thrones and Dominions, and with all the hosts and Powers of heaven, we sing the hymn of your glory, as without end we acclaim: Holy, Holy, Holy Lord God of Hosts ..." (Common Preface I). John Chrysostom also says, "For if the very air is filled with angels, how much more the Church! ...The angels exult, the Archangels rejoice, the Cherubim and Seraphim join us in the celebration of [the] feast..." To attend Mass for the angels is a great joy, as "Christ is the center of the angelic world. They are his angels" (CCC 331). They love God and will gladly pray for us at Mass anywhere in the world! The angelic world is mysterious, but we are encouraged to ask them for their intercession since they can help us to adore the Divine Majesty with devotion.
