Reception of the Precious Blood

Beginning the weekend of April 15-16, at All Saints Parish and at all Masses, we will begin offering the Precious Blood from the cup as well as the Body of Christ.

This is optional for all who wish to receive Holy Communion. Jesus reminds us to eat and drink of the fullness of the Eucharist.

Dipping the host into the cup is no longer permitted by Diocesan policy. We are pleased the Diocese has restored this practice to the people of God.

In Sympathy

Our desire is to remember All Saints Parishioners who have experienced the loss of a family member.

It is possible for us to miss a notice about your loved one. Please reach out to the parish office at (812)423-5209 or email mwalker@evdio.org if you have lost someone in your family so that we can remember you in our prayers.

Please remember in your prayers the souls of all the recently departed of our Parish Family. May God grant peace & comfort during this difficult time.

Justice Challenge

We celebrate the core event of our faith this week, the Resurrection of Jesus. Through the Resurrection, we are brought to new life and grace. We are assured that God's love is more powerful than anything—even death—and that Jesus fulfilled his mission of redemption. Your challenge this week is to celebrate your own new life in Christ by promoting respect for life in your community. Think of a way you can promote life. You could pray for women who are considering abortion so that they have a change of heart, and pray for doctors who perform abortions, that they, too, will have a conversion and remember their oath to protect, not destroy, life. You could pray for an end to war and violence, or for an end to the death penalty in our nation. If you aren't already, consider becoming active in your local pro-life community. How can you promote the Catholic vision of life that says every human life is sacred, from womb to tomb?

OR

April 11 marks the anniversary of Pope John XXIII's encyclical, Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth). This letter was the foundation for much of the Church's contemporary teaching on just war. See page 5 of the bulletin. Pope John urged the Church to promote peace by defending human rights. Your challenge this week is to read Paragraphs 166 to 172 from the encyclical, which can be found on the Vatican's website, www.vatican.va. Click on English and then type "Peace on Earth" in the Search Box. After reading these paragraphs, reflect on how you can apply what you read in your own personal relationships and in the way you vote as a Catholic.

(Luke 22:19) ...Awesome God People reaching for God and God reaching for people. We can't get there on our own.

Glory to God! Alleluia! He is Risen!

We celebrate the birth of the baby, Jesus, each Christmas. We know he was born to be our Savior. Then, during Holy Week, we realize what that means. He suffered and died for us. There is no celebration like Easter! We have been saved! Jesus has risen from the dead...and we celebrate Easter every Sunday.

From Pope John XXIII's encyclical, Pacem In Terris (Peace on Earth) Paragraphs 166-172
The Prince of Peace

166. Our concern here has been with problems which are causing men extreme anxiety at the present time; problems which are intimately bound up with the progress of human society. Unquestionably, the teaching We have given has been inspired by a longing which We feel most keenly, and which We know is shared by all men of good will: that peace may be assured on earth.

167. We who, in spite of Our inadequacy, are nevertheless the vicar of Him whom the prophet announced as the Prince of Peace, (70) conceive of it as Our duty to devote all Our thoughts and care and energy to further this common good of all mankind. Yet peace is but an empty word, if it does not rest upon that order which Our hope prevailed upon Us to set forth in outline in this encyclical. It is an order that is founded on truth, built up on justice, nurtured and animated by charity, and brought into effect under the auspices of freedom.

168. So magnificent, so exalted is this aim that human resources alone, even though inspired by the most praiseworthy good will, cannot hope to achieve it. God Himself must come to man's aid with His heavenly assistance, if human society is to bear the closest possible resemblance to the kingdom of God.

169. The very order of things therefore, demands that during this sacred season we pray earnestly to Him who by His bitter passion and death washed away men's sins, which are the fountainhead of discord, misery and inequality; to Him who shed His blood to reconcile the human race to the heavenly Father, and bestowed the gifts of peace. "For He is our peace, who hath made both one . . . And coming, He preached peace to you that were afar off; and peace to them that were nigh." (71)

170. The sacred liturgy of these days reechoes the same message: "Our Lord Jesus Christ, after His resurrection stood in the midst of His disciples and said: Peace be upon you, alleluia. The disciples rejoiced when they saw the Lord." (72) It is Christ, therefore, who brought us peace; Christ who bequeathed it to us: "Peace I leave with you: my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, do I give unto you." (73)

171. Let us, then, pray with all fervor for this peace which our divine Redeemer came to bring us. May He banish from the souls of men whatever might endanger peace. May He transform all men into witnesses of truth, justice and brotherly love. May He illumine with His light the minds of rulers, so that, besides caring for the proper material welfare of their peoples, they may also guarantee them the fairest gift of peace. Finally, may Christ inflame the desires of all men to break through the barriers which divide them, to strengthen the bonds of mutual love, to learn to understand one another, and to pardon those who have done them wrong. Through His power and inspiration may all peoples welcome each other to their hearts as brothers, and may the peace they long for ever flower and ever reign among them.

172. And so, dear brothers, with the ardent wish that peace may come upon the flocks committed to your care, for the special benefit of those who are most lowly and in the greatest need of help and defense, lovingly in the Lord We bestow on you, on Our priests both secular and regular, on religious both men and women, on all the faithful and especially those who give wholehearted obedience to these Our exhortations, Our Apostolic Blessing. And upon all men of good will, to whom We also address this encyclical, We implore from God health and prosperity.

Given at Rome, at St. Peter's, on Holy Thursday, the eleventh day of April, in the year 1963, the fifth of Our Pontificate.

Easter Sunday • John 20:1-9

GOSPEL

It was very early in the morning on Sunday. The tomb stone was rolled away. Jesus was gone. All that was left inside were the strips of linen cloth. When John and Peter saw it, they were amazed. They did not understand all the promises the prophets wrote about Jesus yet. However, they knew he was alive. He had risen from the dead!

PRAYER

God, I thank you for bringing Jesus back to life.

DRAW
